

No Stop

Written by Deborah Monard, co-written with Joav Stern
© Deborah Monard Music (2024)

I see it in your eyes and it makes me sad.
You're never satisfied, always searching for.
Your expression, unsaid words, are revealing that
There must be a hole in your heart.
But who am I? Who am I?
To respond and fulfill everything that is missing.
Am I supposed to? No, I am not. No, I am not.

So I say No! Stop! Wait for a minute!
Can I shelter my heart from going under.
Help me hear what you can hear.
Help me see what you can see.
So I find out what you mean.
I am singing my own way.

No stop, no stop, wait a minute.
No stop, no stop, wait.
Help me hear what you can hear.
Help me see what you can see.
So I find out what you mean.
I am singing my own way.

Enough now, I am done now.
I don't allow this to my heart anymore.
I am free now, pray now,
that you will be at ease with yourself.

I'll give you my world (but you want the universe).
I'll give you my all (you want more than I can give).
I'll give you my heart (it will never be enough).
But I know I am I am I am.